HISTORY AND OVERVIEW OF ROOTEL INVESTMENT SERVICE

Rootel Investment Service is a registered fund investment company that began in August 2014 with eight people who believed they could manage funds for investors in a way that would yield sustainable returns through real estate, stocks, shares, bonds, agriculture and cannabidiol (CBD) trading.

The major part of their investment goes to cannabidiol (CBD) trading and they are on their way to becoming the Amazon of the cannabidiol (CBD) industry which will turn into a billion-dollar industry soon.

Over the past 5 years, Rootel Investment Service has evolved from an eight-person startup to a global company who's trusted to manage more investment portfolios than any other investment manager. The past five years have shown our commitment to our platform, our people and our technology so that we can continue to deliver long-term value for our investors.

In 2017, we got our bank license and by the end of that year, our firm had $2 million in funds under management due to our strengthening relationships with global institutions.

We originally accept only corporate investors but after recognizing the opportunity to bring transparency, scale and innovation to fund management for the broader industry, we started a public bid and campaign on social media platforms like Facebook, Instagram and Telegram in September 2019 for private investors to come and invest their funds for management and profit-making.

Given the changing wealth management landscape, we focus on providing portfolio investment management expertise to investors by leveraging our diverse platform and portfolio management technology.

Rootel Investment Service increases its output and commitment to investment stewardship by emphasizing the importance of purpose to long-term profitability. Through this work and the overall dedication to investment stewardship over the past five years, we go beyond proxy voting to engage with individuals and companies to drive long-term and sustainable financial performance.

As a step for us to focus our role in the retirement crisis, we will be launching Rootel Retirement Solutions Group by the end of 2020. With two-thirds of the funds we manage related to retirement, this new initiative will be formed to explore innovative solutions to the most pressing retirement challenges all over the world.

We started trading stock, investing in real estate and agriculture in 2014 with success but unperfected. After several variations of our strategy over the years, we honed in on what worked and added cannabidiol (CBD) trading to our investment portfolio in July 2018. We then fine-tuned our system bringing our success rate to up to 85% or more (depending on the time of year). We are monitoring our system daily to make sure it's at its best potential so we can make consistent and sustainable returns for our investors.

Yes, for now but the real money is having your own account with us and earning profits on the amount invested.
